

Housecleaning

For there to be room for Jesus, we may need to do some housecleaning.
Jesus wants to be the most important one to us, the Lord of our lives.

From the examples below, which one best describes your "house" as it is right now?
Where would you like to be a year from now?

Dump

Full of tons of discarded waste, unsightly and smelly, of use to nobody and just waiting to be hauled away.

Junkyard

Used and damaged goods, all over the place, but for the right price may be of some use to somebody, somewhere, someday.

Bedroom

Everything is there, but where? Someday, when absolutely necessary everything will be clean and in its place with room to move.

Department Store

Many nice looking things and plenty of specials, but overstocked and usually overcrowded. A good sale will help a lot.

Museum

Everything inside is neat and in order. There is no clutter and plenty of room, but a little cold and pretentious for some visitors.

Grocery store

Clean and bright with the fresh smell of tasty delights, filled with people of all kinds with a common purpose.

Kitchen

Warm, comfortable, clean and filled with joy, small enough for intimacy but with just enough room for whoever desires to enter.

After making your selection, share why you picked what you did with the other members of your group.

Additional Questions to Discuss

How would others who know you very well describe you?

If you are not yet where you want to be, how do you plan to get there.
